New Orleans Louisiana Knight on Bikes 2021 Rally 30 day count down from the Tri City Cycle Works Shop. Day one got the Guadalupe bike in the shop and on the lift for a new front tire, carb rebuild, and rear shock change out. The rear shocks I put on last year worked good for lowering the bike but two up it's like riding a pogo stick....the import front tire is all over the road two up and the S&S carb has a big cough off idle also a bigger issue with WA KonB first lady on the back.

CATHOLIC HISTORY

The anti-Christian secular forces are attacking us on every front. What can we do? Perhaps we can seek guidance and inspiration from a few historical feasts:

August 6, The Transfiguration of Christ

September 12, The Feast of the Most Holy Name of Mary

October 7, The Feast of Our Lady of Victory

After the fall of Constantinople in 1453, the Ottoman Turks attempted to subjugate the Kingdom of Hungary. On July 22, 1456, Christian forces led by John Hunyadi defeated the Turks in the Siege of Belgrade and prevented them from invading the Kingdom of Hungary for more than 60 years. To celebrate the victory over the Turks, Pope Callixtus III extended August 6, The Transfiguration of Christ, to the Universal Church.

The Archbishop of Mexico sent an exact copy of the Holy Image of Our Lady of Guadalupe to King Philip II of Spain, who in turn gave it to Admiral Andrea Doria of the Fleet of the Holy League, a coalition of Catholic states arranged by Pope Pius V. He placed it in his cabin. When the Armada was attacked on the morning of October 7, 1571, Admiral Don Juan of Austria, the commander of the fleet, flew the blue standard of Our Lady of Guadalupe from the masthead of his flagship. The victory of the Holy League against the Ottoman Empire marked the turning-point of Ottoman military expansion into the Mediterranean. Pope Pius V instituted a new Catholic feast day of Our Lady of Victory (later renamed Our Lady of the Rosary) to commemorate the 1571 victory of the Papal States against the Ottoman navy in the Battle of Lepanto.

The Feast of the Most Holy Name of the Blessed Virgin Mary has been a universal Roman Rite feast since 1684, when Pope Innocent XI included it in the General Roman Calendar to commemorate the victory at the Battle of Vienna in 1683. It celebrates the victory of King John Sobieski and his Polish warriors over the Ottoman Turks at the gates of Vienna in September 11-12, 1683, marking the high-water mark of Muslim power. September 11 was chosen 318 years later to mark the resurgence of Muslim ambition in the modern world .So, the Knights of today must continue to call on Mary to support us in the fight against the secular forces in our attempt to save the Christian world once again

NEW CHALLENGE

We are really growing weary of medical issues. This cancer has nothing to do with the prostate. Balsa Cell Carcinoma

April 19, 2021

As if we did not have enough going wrong, I was diagnosed with a balsa cell carcinoma on my right lower eyelid. This is a common cancer and is usually not a big deal to cut and remove surrounding material, but on the eyelid, there is not much to deal with. This cancer is NOT related to the prostate cancer.

I thought it was a stye a few months ago. I started losing eye lash hair in that area and it started spreading. We never gave it a thought it was cancer. It never hurt until about two weeks ago. It took forever to get a doctor appointment.

If this grosses you out, stop reading now.

They must remove a portion of my eyelid, and then take skin from the underside of my upper eyelid to graft to the lower. It will be patched for two months. I am not looking (sorry for the pun) forward to this one.

I am awaiting a surgery date, but it will not be long. The ophthalmologist said it needs to come out immediately. They do this kind of surgery in Tacoma, so another trip to the Westside.

Add a few extra prayers please.

HE WON'T ASK FOR DIRECTIONS

Clifford and Daisy May were married for many years.

Whenever there was a confrontation, yelling could be heard deep into the night.

Clifford would shout, "When I die, I'll dig my way up and out of the grave and come back and haunt you for the rest of your life ol' woman!!"

Neighbors feared him. Old Clifford liked the fact that he was feared.

He died at the ripe old age of 98.

After the burial, Daisy May's neighbors, concerned for her safety, asked, "Aren't you afraid that he may indeed be able to dig his way out of the grave and haunt you for the rest of your life?" She replied.

"LET HIM DIG. I HAD HIM BURIED UPSIDE DOWN...AND I KNOW
HE WON'T ASK FOR DIRECTIONS."

NEVER GIVE UP!

Don't Quit

When things go wrong, as they sometimes will;
When the road you're trudging seems all uphill;
When the funds are low and the debts are high;
And you want to smile but you have to sigh.
When all is pressing you down a bit—
Rest if you must, but don't you quit
Success is failure turned inside out;
The silver tint on the clouds of doubt;
And you can never tell how close you are;
It may be near when it seems far.
So stick to the fight when you're hardest hit —
It's when things go wrong that you must not quit."

HE WALKED AMONG US !

HE WALKED AMONG US !

St. Bernard

Abbot, Doctor of the Church (1090-1153)

St. Bernard, founder of the Cistercian Abbey of Clairvaux, was one of the towering figures of the twelfth century. From his austere monastery, he corresponded with popes, kings, and penitents of all stations, managing to exert his influence in many of the ecclesiastical, social, and intellectual disputes of his day. He traveled throughout Europe to attend synods and church councils, combated heresy, and aided in the foundation of scores of Cistercian monasteries.

Bernard's personality is well conveyed through his extensive correspondence. To the bishop of Geneva, he wrote: "The bishop's throne for which you, my dear friend, were lately chosen, demands many virtues, none of which, I grieve to say, could be discerned in you, at any rate in any strength, before your consecration." To a nun who wished to leave her convent: "if you are one of the foolish virgins, the convent is necessary for you; if you are one of the wise, you are necessary for the convent."

The light of history does not shine well on all his causes -- such as his harsh dispute with theologian Peter Abelard, or his role in preaching on behalf of the disastrous Second Crusade. But for his extensive writings, including his mystical commentaries on the Song of Songs and his treatises on the Virgin Mary, he was deemed the "Last of the Church Fathers."

"I believe though I do not comprehend, and I hold by faith what I cannot grasp with the mind."

COUNCIL 11789 & ASSEMBLY 3097

First, we had another RECORD DAY with the Tootsie Roll drive on April 17 at our Silverdale Safeway, and once more, it was evident people were inspired to generosity seeing us out there despite the COVID challenge. We beat our October total by about $100 with donations of $2,234.26!

THANK YOU, ROGER BALBARONA & TEAM,

Second, we had a terrific Exemplification for FIVE new members in our newly remodeled church on April 24, as well welcoming TWO reactivations ~ (for those who have trouble with math), that's SEVEN NEW MEMBERS after going over a year without any new members. (We will soon have a total of EIGHT new members as we are arranging for Daniel Klege's exemplification online because he is out of the area.) Just the kind of turnaround we hope for in our post-COVID world. And no surprise, our Exemplification team, led by Jack Seaman GK, Roberto Dela Pena PGK, Bob Ramirez, John McGannon, Matt Brazerol, Walter Bogaardt, Don Thompson, and the rest did a great job!

SILVER ROSE PROGRAM

*Greetings Worthy WA KofC Silver Rose
Program Director Brother Richard Nelson,*

My name is SK Bruce Hines....I am the current Washington State Knights on Bikes President and Pacific Vice-National President Elect. In 2015 while serving as KonB Dioceses of Yakima president WA Knights on Bikes were invited to participate in the transport of the Silver Rose thru our State and Dioceses.....It was a life changing experience for me a convert to the faith in 2002, as you can see it inspired me to paint my 30-year-old motorcycle with the image of our Lady of Guadalupe and she entered my life..... Inspiring me to build a Father McGivney tribute 1950 Harley, and currently an in progress Vivat Christo Rey theme bike. These bikes have become well known and continue to give great opportunity to the witness our Catholic faith and our Knights of Columbus fraternity sharing Father McGivney's vision to a world in need. Vivat Jesus!

Please keep the Knights on Bikes in mind for upcoming events in the future...we would love to ride with.

Prostate Cancer update
May 12, 2021

Hello brothers,

A lot has happened since last month's report. A carcinoma has been determined on my eyelid (see below) in addition to prostate cancer.

For the prostate cancer, I have met with numerous specialists from Urology surgeons to radiation oncologists. Their opinions range from doing nothing, to full radiation and hormone therapy. Life expectancy given my aggressive form of cancer is from 3 years to 10 years, depending on success from radiation. Only 45% of men receiving radiation treatment have a successful outcome.

Some say not to worry about PSA numbers because we know it is going up, so why do them. Others say get the PSA's and see the urgency in treatment.

You see where I am going with this? A specialist sees his field of expertise and naturally thinks it is the best way to go. We have made a decision based off of four of the eight we've seen. Why the four, they are the most consistent with each other and have been independent of the other.

The PET Scan Axumin I spoke of last month was accomplished April 13th. The test result showed no detectable cancer. That means the cancer cells have not metastasized enough to see. They are there, just can't see them. The question then is, do we radiate something we can't see? Have the cells moved to another part of the body that we can't, see? Do we just go with quality of life or chance radiation and hormone therapy with a slew of unpleasant side effects, some permanent?

The latest oncologist opinion of the Axumin scan is they are only 25% effective. He is the first one to say that. All others are in the range of 60-87% effective in seeing biochemical markers of prostate cancer cells in the blood and bone system.

It is our decision to start radiation and hormone therapy the third week of June. Radiation treatment will take 7 to 8 weeks to complete. Hormone therapy will take 6 months. All are supposed to lower the PSA to zero. I am not even going into the raft of side effects from both treatments. I just hope it is the right decision.

Now to the basal cell carcinoma on my eyelid. I have surgery on that scheduled June 16th to remove a portion of the eyelid until no cancer cells are detected. After surgery, plastic/corrective surgery will create a fake eyelid. All of this sounds just lovely.

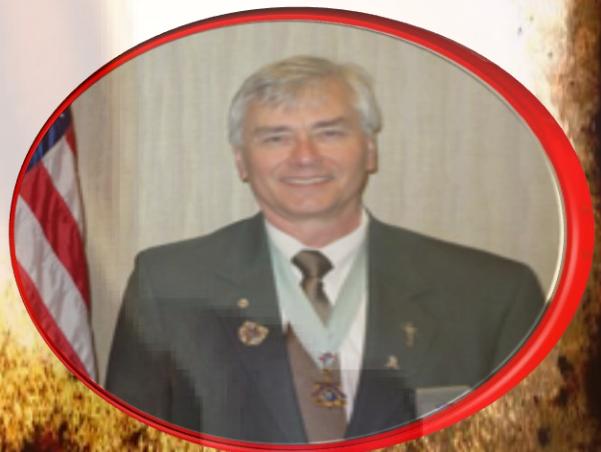

The timing of treatments/surgery is planned around Knights of Columbus work and State Deputy-elect concerns. State Convention May 15th, State Deputy training in New Haven, CT June 8-14, Radiation Simulation June 15th, carcinoma surgery and reconstructive June 16th, State Officer Retreat June 18th-20th, Hormone therapy infusion June 25th, begin radiation June 30th. State Deputy begins July 1st, with Summer Meeting July 9th-11th while radiation continues until the end of August. Regionals begin soon after.

Why wait? Radiation is M-F for 8 weeks. It is a commitment for the period. You see the schedule above, so we must wait. Most of the specialists do not see a problem in waiting that long, but have they been right so far? We don't know. One of them is right, but which one?

Sorry for the downer, but we will press on.

"DIAMOND" CATHOLIC

In April 1947, 'Babe Ruth Day' was celebrated throughout the majors. 58,000 came out to Yankee Stadium to honor the ailing legend and hear him promote baseball as "the only real game in the world."

He was a lifelong Catholic who would sometimes attend Mass after carousing all night, and he became a well-known member of the Knights of Columbus. He would visit orphanages, schools, and hospitals throughout his life, often avoiding publicity.

Hallelujah: IN THE MOONLIGHT

By STEVE SNELL

The old man is sitting by the water's edge, in an old wheel chair. He is asleep, but as the sun moves behind the clouds, the old man stirs back to life; he slowly brushes away the cobwebs from his clouded eyes and waits for the feelings to return to his face. After sitting so long in such a deep and restful sleep his movements are slow, his mind slowly almost begrudgingly returns to the present; his shoulders, his arms, and his legs cling to sleep until eventually he is able to prod them to move. He looks into the water and sees the face of an old man; a face he can hardly recognize, the years have stolen the face he remembers. He still has hair, but time has made it white. He is alone; his mother and father are no longer here; his family and his fellow Knights have disappeared, and his memories have begun to pass on. He lacks company and care. He has made it this far, but he is no longer a young boy dreaming he is a man; he has become an old man who spends his time dreaming he is a boy.

This old man in his chair at the beach holding on to a fishing pole that looked to be as old as he was, returned to my life unexpectedly one afternoon in the early fall of the year. I was walking along this very same beach in the late of the afternoon deep in thought when, "Hey mister", the voice broke up my trance, "could you give me a hand?" There in front of me was this old man in his old chair, I stopped for two reasons, one he had asked for help and secondly, he looked familiar.

"Do you think you could bait this darn hook for me, my hands have lost their feeling, old scars still hurt me, and my eyes are bad today?" The old man asked. I said, "of course." The old man watched me and seemed to admire the speed with which I was able to get the job done. When I was through, I spit on the bait and threw the line in for him. "See you later," I said, "good luck." "Back at you friend," he said in parting. He reminds me of a man I once knew, a brilliant and thoughtful man who had times in his life when he had been angry in the cause of justice. He was a man who could be splendidly angry; with his voice and his passion he could make the thunder roll! He taught that life is incomplete unless it leads to a sympathetic understanding of others, to mercy and to charity. He was always an able and friendly man who believed compassion is necessary to live in unity. The children loved him. He spent so much of his time giving himself away.

As I walk up the beach from somewhere within me came the music and the haunting lyrics of Hallelujah:

*I've heard there was a secret chord
That David played, and it pleased the Lord
But you don't really care for music, do you?
Well it goes like this, the fourth, the fifth
The minor fall, the major lift
The baffled King composing Hallelujah

Its power and mystery is that it can be for anyone, anytime, yesterday or today. The song and the interpretation are yours: it is the past and yet the future, grab it, mold it, hold it, believe in it and then live the promise that it brings. Hallelujah is a message of thank you, forgiveness and promise in one word. As with life, the presentation and delivery of this music is so critically important, with this very personal and inspirational song as with prayer, it is everything!

I am on the road almost home; I'm tired and thirsty. I am still plagued with the idea that my encounter with the old man was more than it seemed and what was it that made me feel that I knew him? Well, I need to let that go and proceed on with life; after all he was just another old man living in the past who worked his way into my head somehow. I will send it back where it came from and move on, “Back at you friend,” OMIGOD!!!

I finally made it back to the beach, I’m running in the sand as fast I can, I’m looking for him in his chair, and there he is all alone looking out over the water, facing the sunset. I fall to my knees in the sand in front of him and lay my head in his lap sobbing, “I’m sorry, please forgive me, I didn’t recognize you.... I did not know.” The last thing I remember was feeling his hand lying gently on my head.

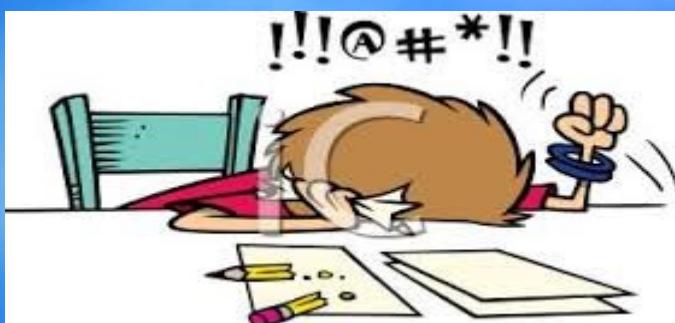

As he sits there in his comfortable old chair a shadow moves over the water and seems to wait for him; he smiles and the tears in his eyes mean that he is happy, he knows that a new mission is about to begin and he will be going home to his Father and Mother, home where he will no longer be alone.

MESSAGE BY METAPHOR

It was 6 in the morning. The paper boy climbed the stairs and reached apt. # B-11. He dropped the newspaper in the mailbox of B-11 and walked away. Within five minutes, an old man from the next door came, took the newspaper in his hand, and went into his apt. which was B-13. The old man read whole newspaper and dropped it back to the mailbox of B-11 before 7 am. Jeff, the owner of apt. # B-11 woke up and opened the door at 7.30 am., he took newspaper in his hand and closed the door. The saga continued for a long time. The old man always took the newspaper and dropped it back before 7.

One fine evening, on the ground floor, same old man found that his neighbor Jeff was leaving the apt... He firmly wanted to have words with Jeff but could not make it.

The next morning, the old man woke up. Following to his daily habit, he was about to go & grab newspaper from the mailbox of B-11. But, when he was about to open his door, he suddenly realized that the owner of B-11 moved and was not living in the same place anymore. So, he did not open the door and started walking back to his room.

The very next moment, someone buzzed the doorbell of his home. He moved back towards the door, walked a few steps, and opened the door. He did not find anyone on the other side of the door. He opened the door and came out. When he was looking around, his eyes scanned the mailbox of the B-11 apt...

There was a newspaper there. He moved towards the mailbox and took the newspaper out. Taking it out, a note slipped to floor from the newspaper. The old man picked up that note from the floor.

The note had only five words with a smiley that read, "the show must go on."

The old man smiled reading it, took the newspaper with him and walked back to his apt.

"SEE YOU NEXT MONTH", because....

"THE SHOW MUST GO ON."
